SNOW TODAY TO INCREASE 8-INCH WEEK-END FALL

With more snow forecast, the weather man may add to the task of the removal of the winter's heaviest snowfall—measured over the week-end at from 1½ to eight inches in various sections of the county—from county highways, continuing a job begun Saturday by large staffs of state and local workers.

Gettysburg's borough snow plow, operating for the first time in several years, was engaged Sunday morning in clearing from all of the borough streets Saturday's heavy snow.

Borough Engineer LeRoy H. Winebrenner said the present snow was the first big snow since the plow was removed from the old International truck owned by the borough to a new truck. The new rig was tested in the small snow preceding the week-end's snowfall and proved workable at that time. Sunday the plow cleaned all of the crossings, all of Washington and Stratton streets, High street, East Middle street, all of roadway and the area around the Warner hospital. With the new plow rig the crossings of the town were cleaned in one-fourth the time required to do the work by hand, it was stated. The International truck to which the plow was originally fastened had through age become unable to push the plow in heavy snows, it was stated.

Snow Plows Busy

The state highway office here had seventy men operating 15 trucks and four graders busy Saturday night and Sunday in removing the snow which varied from 1½ inches in southern portions of the county to seven inches around Weikertville. The highway workers estimated they would have had from 12 to 14 inches of snow to contend with if the ground had been frozen when the snowfall began Saturday morning.

In a few instances heavy trucks had difficulty in climbing hills but for the most part the roads were clear enough for traffic to proceed without difficulty throughout the week-end.

Ivan Gulden, a forest ranger, reported to The Gettysburg Times that west of Cashtown in the South mountains the snow fall measured eight inches at noon Sunday.

WILL ATTEND STATE CONFAB

County War Board Chairman Harrison P. Snyder and Secretary D. E. Hess will be among the war board chairmen and secretaries who will attend a conference Tuesday at the state AAA office in Harrisburg, it was announced today.

Deferment of agricultural workers will be the subject of discussion at the first of four regional conferences of chairmen and secretaries of county war boards to be held in Harrisburg this week, according to Clyde A. Zehner, chairman of the Pennsylvania State War board of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, in a statement issued today.

The recent action of Selective Service headquarters, requiring draft boards to reclassify all deferred agricultural and industrial workers, requires that the status of every agricultural worker of draft age be reviewed. County War boards must determine if the duties of these deferred workers are really essential to war crop production or of sufficient size to justify deferment.

"In order that we may have uniformity in handling these cases of essential agricultural workers, and so that men and women who are preparing questionnaires for Selective Service officials may know all the details required, we are calling our farm representatives to Harrisburg to confer with Colonel Melton or his aides personally," said Mr. Zehner.

Lt. Col. Geiselman Guest Of Honor Here

Lt. Col. Robert C. Geiselman, Camp Lee, Virginia, was guest of honor at a family reunion held Sunday evening at the home of his step-father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Gervus W. Myers, East Middle street.

Naugle, Thurmont; Mrs. Paul Dale, Upper Darby, and Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Geiselman and daughters, Barbara, Joan and Vivian, Biglerville. Following the reunion Lt. Col. Geiselman returned to his command, the 53rd Quartermaster Base Depot, Camp Lee, Virginia.

Rural Carriers And Auxiliary Elect

The Adams County Rural Letter Carriers' association and its Auxiliary elected officers in separate sessions Saturday evening at the YWCA building here.

The carriers voted $5 to the Red Cross and $3 to the YWCA campaign.

These new officers were chosen by the women's Auxiliary: President, Mrs. Gardner; vice president, Mrs. Neely; secretary, Mrs. Clair Routson, Gettysburg, and treasurer, Mrs. Norman Storrick, Gettysburg. Mrs. House was the retiring president of the Auxiliary. The group contributed $2.50 to the Red Cross War Fund drive.

MRS. BAIR, 92, DIES SATURDAY; HEARD LINCOLN

Mrs. E. Louisa Bair, 92, died at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Sponseller, Gettysburg R. 2, Saturday at 4 o'clock from a complication of diseases. She had been bedfast nine weeks.

Mrs. Bair was a daughter of the late George and Mary Elizabeth (Groff) Weikert and resided all of her life in Adams county. At the time of the Battle of Gettysburg she resided at the Weikert house, Round Top. During the battle her family moved to Two Taverns and upon their return found their home had been turned into a hospital. They helped care for the ill and wounded until their removal. Four brothers of the deceased served in the Union army.

The deceased heard President Lincoln deliver his Gettysburg Address, having walked to Gettysburg with her father from their home. She also shook hands with Mr. Lincoln.

Services Tuesday
Mrs. Bair formerly resided in Gettysburg but for the last six years had been residing with her daughter. She was the oldest life-long member of Trinity Reformed church. At the time the church observed its 150th anniversary she was selected to cut the cake.

In pointing out Mrs. Sponseller she is survived by six grandchildren and 10 great-grandchildren. Funeral services from the Bender funeral home Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock conducted by the Rev. H. S. Fox. Interment in Evergreen cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home this evening after 7 o'clock.

Swine Management Meetings Planned

Four swine management meetings have been announced for this week by M. T. Hartman, county farm agent. M. C. Madison, livestock extension specialist from State College, will be in charge of the illustrated talks on swine feeding and management to be given at the meetings.

"High feed prices and limited supplies in comparison to hog prices present a difficult problem; it appears that changes in our system of swine management practices must be made if we are going to continue in the hog business," Mr. Hartman said in announcing the meetings. The meetings are open to the general public. They will be held Thursday at 1:45 p. m. at Biglerville high school, also on Thursday at 8 p. m.—at Coulson's garage, York Springs and on Friday at 2 p. m., at Gettysburg high school and at 8 p. m. Friday at the farm of G. R. Worley, Hanover R. D., near Brush-town.

The Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Abdel Ross Wentz announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Mary Louise Wentz, to O. Garfield Beckstrand, II, son of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. O. Garfield Beckstrand, of Rockford, Illinois, at a buffet supper, Saturday evening, at the Wentz home on Seminary ridge.

The announcement was made through poetry held in the bill of a bluebird perched over the goblet at each person's place. Flowers and placecards carried out the spring theme.

Out-of-town guests at the supper included Miss Grace Waltemyer, Chambersburg; Miss Ruth Savocool, Wilson college; the Misses Phyllis and Kathryn Wickey, Washington, D. C., and Pfc. William Waltemyer, Philadelphia.

Miss Wentz, who is now a senior at Gettysburg college, graduated

Sheffer Graduates At Great Lakes Station

Among those graduating from an intensive course of torpedoman's mate training at recent service school exercises at Great Lakes, Ill., was Howard W. Sheffer, Jr., 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Sheffer, 309 North Stratton street.

Sheffer was selected for his specialized training on the basis of his recruit training aptitude test scores. Graduates from the twenty specialized courses taught at the Service School are sent to sea, to shore stations, or to advanced schools, for active duty or further training.

COLLEGE MAY BE NAMED TO TRAIN YOUTHS

Considerable conjecture has arisen from the proposed pre-induction college training program by the War Department wherein 17-year-old high school graduates will be trained at specially selected colleges before their induction into service.

Authorities at the college declined to comment on the possibilities in so far as they might affect the local institution. However, from an unofficial source it has been learned that Gettysburg College is being considered as one of the schools to be selected where 17-year-old high school graduates will be trained before they are called into service upon attaining the age of 18 years.

Examination March 15
Examinations for the prospective college-trained-inductees will be held March 15. An examination will be given at the local high school.

Any youth who qualifies, expresses preference for the Army and will be less than 17 years and 9 months old on July 1, is assured "a minimum of six months' intensive academic work at the college" before being called to active duty for basic training, a joint Army-Navy statement said. Any successful candidate who will be less than 17½ years on July 1 will be assured a minimum of 9 months of active training.

R. P. Funkhouser For Alternate Delegate

Roy P. Funkhouser, who announced some time ago as a candidate as delegate to the Democratic national convention, today withdrew in favor of John Lucabagh and announced that he would file as a candidate for alternate delegate. In his announcement, Mr. Funkhouser said: "I am withdrawing in favor of Mr. Lucabagh of Adams county; Louis Appel of York county, and D. Roy Wishard of Franklin county, delegate candidates. I am a candidate for alternate delegate."

FOUR INJURED IN AUTO CRASH

Mrs. Emma R. Bucher, Gettysburg R. 1, is a patient at the Warner hospital today with a broken right wrist, contusions of the chest and shock as a result of an automobile accident Saturday morning at 12:30 o'clock four miles east of Lancaster.

Mrs. Bucher, who had been visiting her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Bucher, Franklinville, New Jersey, was returning home with Mr. and Mrs. Ralph S. Forry, and daughter, Yvonne, Pittman, New Jersey, who were planning to visit Mr. and Mrs. William Sachs, Baltimore street, for the week-end during the course of a business trip by Mr. Forry.

Near Lancaster a car driven by a negro whose name was not known here cut to the left side of the highway, hit the side of the Forry vehicle and then hit the car following behind the Forry machine. All three of the cars were totally wrecked. An electric stove fastened to the top of the Forry car, which was being brought to Gettysburg for sale, was said to be the only thing about the Forry car that was undamaged.

All of the passengers of the Forry car were treated at St. Joseph's hospital, Lancaster, for bruises and other injuries. Mrs. Bucher was discharged to come to Gettysburg to enter the Warner hospital as a patient. She was the most seriously injured of the group.

SALVAGE FLAG PRESENTED TO LINCOLN SCHOOL

"Adams county can well be proud of its part in the war effort," Dr. A. R. Wentz, president of the Gettysburg Lutheran Theological seminary, declared this morning in presenting a salvage flag to the student body of Lincoln school for leading all schools in the county in the per pupil collection of tin cans during the month of January.

"Our men in service are serving with distinction and some have already made the supreme sacrifice. During the Fourth War Loan drive we led the state and nation in going over the top in the campaign, we have never failed to exceed our Red Cross quota and we will do it again in the present campaign. In USO drives, blood donor contributions, in every form of endeavor connected with the war, from the county civilian defense set-up to the salvage of tin cans by the youngsters we have been doing more than expected," Dr. Wentz said.

Cites Great Waste

"Out of this war we are learning to save on the margins," the seminary head said. "We are a wasteful people. Whole nations could exist on what we waste. Enough soil could be found in the uncultivated fence rows in America and in the auto junk yards to make a whole European country. There are 45,000,000 unused acres of land in the U. S. that are usable, an amount one and a half times as large as Pennsylvania. We lose 20 per cent of our cotton crop in gathering it and preparing it for the market. Each year our loss in woodlands through preventable fires is $50,000,000 in valuable lumber. We lose nearly one-quarter billion dollars through other fires."

"We must overcome this wastefulness, we must use the margins and through such things as tin can salvage we are learning how to use that which we formerly wasted."

Judge Sheely Speaks

Dr. Wentz and Vernon Corle, chairman of the local firemen's salvage drive, spread out the four by six foot tin can salvage flag as Dr. Wentz presented it to the school. Melvin Sease, top collector of tin cans at the school during January, accepted the flag. "I am glad to find the banner on behalf of the school," Melvin said. "We like the job and I am sure we will keep up our good record."

Judge W. C. Sheely introduced Dr. Wentz by pointing out that "all of us are not old enough or young enough or fit enough to serve in the armed forces, but there is something for all of us to do in the all-

Conclude Probe

Police concluded their investigations over the week-end and said they were inclined to believe the two had been overcome by exhaust fumes leaking from a loosely wired connection of the car's manifold and exhaust pipe, seeping into the interior of the coupe. They indicated that Miller, after sitting there for approximately a day and a half, had partially recovered, then toppled down the bank as he stumbled from the car. They indicated Miss Nelson had apparently recovered later from the toxic fumes, to wander dazedly to the farm lawn where she was found.

Miller, son of John D. and Nellie Kinley Miller, of Gardeners R. 1, had been boarding near Bowman'sdale during the period he was employed as a laborer on fruit farms near there. His funeral services were held today at York Springs.

36 Report For Service In Army

Lewars, chairman of the county Red Cross today that all arrangements have been completed for the drive in York Springs and that the "prospects for a record drive look very good." All business places in York Springs will be canvassed Tuesday, Mr. Guise wrote.

Yank Bombers Lash Berlin In 5th Day Attack

The Berlin area was bombed again today by "very strong forces" of American heavy bombers, escorted by swarms of fighters.

The attack was the fifth in six days by the Fortresses and Liberators. The German capital was hit in daylight Saturday.

Russian troops fought today on the approaches of Volochisk on the double-tracked Odessa-Lwow railroad, exploiting swiftly a 112-mile floodgap in German lines in the western Ukraine and gravely menacing all Nazis east of the Carpathian mountains and Bessarabia.

A dozen German divisions of perhaps 145,000 men were in retreat. The Russian communique at midnight suggested that the Red army already was within artillery range of the great supply railroad, rendering it useless to the Germans stretched out 450 miles to the southeast of the most advanced Russian troops.

Nazi Catastrophe in South

The offensive had within it implications of Nazi catastrophe in south Russia. It was commanded by the leading military man of Russia, Marshal Gregory K. Zhukov, second only in command to Marshal Stalin. In two days, the Russians said they advanced up to 31 miles, captured 500 places and killed 6,000 Germans. Vast booty was claimed; prisoners filled cages. Lwow itself was menaced for the Russians 14 miles inside old southern Poland were within 83 miles of that rail center. They were 21 miles northeast of Tarnopol with such places as Shumsk, Yampol and Ostropol behind their lines. Unstable Rumania was within 60 miles of Russian guns.

British Mosquito bombers attacked western Germany without loss during the night. In daylight yesterday, American Liberators bombed Cognac and Bergerac air fields in southwest France. Four bombers and five fighters were lost and the American escorts alone destroyed 14 German planes. It was the fourth successive attack of the USAAF, the series including the first American bombing of Berlin Saturday.

Weather Curbs Italian Fighting

Weather prevented any large scale fighting in Italy. A small German attack near Cisterna was tossed back by the beachhead forces. Small German probes on the trans-penninsular front were repelled. The few planes that braved the weather bombed Nazi guns around the Rome area and shipping off Yugoslavia.

Chile and Bolivia had recognized the Farrell regime in Argentina.

Uruguay and Paraguay were considering similar actions. Britain, the United States and other American republics shunned the regime. Two Turkish newspapers intimated a new understanding was possible with Britain, although Turkey had been cut off from British and American war supplies. Allied aviators and technicians sent to Turkey were preparing to leave.

Finns Ponder Red Demands

Finland still hesitated about peace. Russian armies facing her across the Gulf of Finland improved their bridgehead across the Narova river. The emphasis on the gargantuan Russian front has shifted to the south, however, where the Soviet communique described the German plight thus: "The enemy suffered enormous losses in manpower and equipment in all sectors of the front. An enormous amount of war material was captured and shattered enemy divisions abandoned their artillery, ammunition dumps and war material in their retreat."

Asks Merchants To Give Generously To Red Cross

Ralph Z. Oyler, chairman of the Red Cross committee soliciting the business district of Gettysburg, today issued an appeal to all merchants in the area:

"It is most important that Gettysburg fulfill its obligations in the current drive to raise $26,500 in Adams county for the Red Cross war fund."

"We owe the Red Cross every bit of support that we can render. Their work is unmatched in all the field of humanitarian effort. The Red Cross depends upon the public spirited citizens of this country to assist them in carrying on their work."

"Twenty-seven solicitors in the business district have been instructed to complete their canvass of the community by Wednesday of this week. I appeal to all merchants to receive these solicitors cordially and to make their contributions to

ALLIES POUR MORE AID INTO ISLE INVASION

Fighter-escorted Mitchell medium bombers ripped into Japan's hard-hit air strength Saturday, bagging from 30 to 50 enemy aircraft in a raid on Hainan Island off China's south coast, and nine more at a northern Thailand airdrome. Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters announced today.

In the Southwest Pacific, a last-ditch battle for Los Negros Island in the Admiralty group is shaping up, with victory in store for the side that can rush in superior reinforcements.

And in the central Pacific, a start on the aerial campaign to reduce Japan's outer defense bases in the Caroline Islands, using newly won airdromes for land-based planes, is indicated by stepped-up American air activity.

ITALIAN FLEET DIVISION POINTS TO ALLIED UNITY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(Associated Press War Analyst)

Few recent war transactions have created greater international speculation than the unexplained announcement that the Anglo-American Allies are turning one-third of the Italian Navy over to Russia.

The curiosity of Hitler's south-seaers, among others, is at white heat. Especially concerned, of course, are the Italians, and hard-boiled old Premier Badoglio has expressed pained surprise that his government wasn't even advised of the deal.

Well, one can understand the marshal feeling hurt, but there's small ground for surprise in his shrewd mind. While the Allies hope to see Italy prosperous and happy after the war, she should understand thoroughly that she's going to pay dearly for her aggression.

One of the penalties Part of the price will be military impotence. Loss of her once fine Navy is one of the penalties for helping cause millions of deaths and untold destruction. It's one of the penalties for shortening the lives of all of us by the number of wasted years which have to be devoted to war—Nine years if you count the last war, and the end isn't yet in sight. That's an eighth of man's span of life.

It strikes me that the importance of this deal doesn't lie so much in the question of what the Soviet intends to do with the ships as in these two aspects of the situation: (1) the fact that the Italian Navy is being split up, and (2) that it's being divided among the Allies, apparently on the basis of share and share alike.

Symbol of Solidarity Naturally this tiny handful of ships isn't going to turn the war upside down. They might be helpful in Mediterranean operations, manned by Red crews. They would be particularly useful if they could be got into the Black sea to help clear the Germans out of the Crimea and turn their right flank in Russia. However, before Allied ships can be sailed into the Black sea we must have Turkey's permission to pass through the Dardanelles and, more to the point, the Hittites must be cleaned out of the Aegean islands which block the entrance to the Dardanelles from the Mediterranean.

Anyway, of much greater importance is the fact that the Allies are in process of carrying out their oath to render the Axis powers impotent militarily and punish war guilt. Germany and Japan can see in this a preview of what's going to happen to their own navies and armies and airforces.

However, there's something even bigger than that involved in this disposition of the Italian fleet. It's a symbol of solidarity among the three dominant powers—America, Britain and Russia—a unity upon which the peace of the world most certainly depends.

"One for All, All for One" DNB, the official German news agency, professes to see in this move a proof of the "devoted exactness" which the Anglo-Americans try to satisfy the Kremlin. "That's a purposely nasty way of saying something which is a partial truth."

It isn't a question of "satisfying" the Kremlin. It's a matter of adjusting questions on the basis of one for all and all for one. Each of the Allies is, according to his own talents, pulling his weight in the war. Each therefore is entitled to equal consideration with the rest.

Russia doesn't happen to be doing much on the seas, but she is waging mighty war on land. Therefore if she has any use for part of the Italian fleet, she gets it. Next time it may be Russia, who will make a concession to one or both of the other major Allies. Our greatest statesmen are agreed that so long as there is this give and take on the road to world peace; the moment the give and take ceases, we are in fresh trouble.

PREDICT WARM WEATHER AFTER HEAVIEST SNOW

(By The Associated Press)

The weather man predicted fair and warmer weather for Pennsylvania today in the wake of the winter's worst storm, which spread up to 11 inches of snow over the state, stalled traffic and indirectly caused at least five deaths.

Snow, rain and sleet lashed the area steadily for almost 23 hours. Hundreds of workers and scores of snow plows and cinder trucks were sent out to clear clogged streets and highways. Many minor traffic accidents were reported. Bus and trolley lines ran behind schedule and hundreds of automobiles were stalled.

Sledding Accident

Altoona reported an 11-inch fall; downtown Pittsburg, 5.6 inches; Philadelphia, 4.9; Williamsport, five; and Reading, six.

At the height of the storm fire broke out in a 12-family apartment house in Towanda early yesterday and 26 persons were routed in night clothes in 10-below zero weather.

A fire hydrant 30 feet from the building was frozen and the building burned down before firemen could get water. Dr. Paul Harmon, the owner, estimated the loss at $50,000.

In Philadelphia, 11-year-old Erwick Swanson was critically injured in a sledding accident, the exact nature of which was not determined. He was found beside his overturned sled.

At Uniontown, residents reported that while the storm raged thousands of wild ducks flew over the city, heading northward.

LEPKE DIED IN CHAIR SATURDAY

New York, March 6 (AP)—Louis (Lepke) Buchalter, one-time Brooklyn gangster chieftain, chose a killing rather than turn informer—which possibly would have spared him from Sing Sing prison's electric chair Saturday night.

This was indicated yesterday by J. Bertram Wegman, counsel for the father of Murder, Inc., who said: "Buchalter had two keys in his hand. He chose to use the one that opened the door to eternity rather than the other one."

Three Executed

He did not explain what he meant by "the other one" but Wegman's remark gave point to equally terse comment on the case by Mayor F. H. LaGuardia and Assistant District Attorney Burton B. Turkus, who prosecuted Lepke on the murder charge which sent him to his death.

Said LaGuardia during a press interview: "Some people sweated a lot in the last few days."

Meanwhile, brief Orthodox Jewish funeral services were held for the former racket kingpin and Emanuel (Mendy) Weiss, a Lepke henchman also executed Saturday night.

The third member of the trio, Louis Capone, will be buried later this week.

GRIPSHOLM ON JOURNEY WEST

Lisbon, March 6 (AP)—The Swedish exchange liner Gripsholm headed westward across the Atlantic today with 711 North and South Americans bound for home after long internment in Germany and enemy occupied countries.

Most of those aboard the ship were delightedly happy as she started her voyage at midnight last night, but for some—who have lived in Europe for many years and have family ties on this side of the Atlantic—it was a sad occasion.

Among those were several dozen American World War veterans, remnants of the 1917 AEF who remained in France after that conflict, married, raised families and were interned by the Germans when the present war broke out.

As the train bringing these men from internment camps in France arrived at the docks yesterday in a drizzling rain some leaned from the windows of the cars and shouted:

"We don't want to go. The Germans are driving us from France." For them embarkation on the Gripsholm meant being torn from their wives and children and sent thousands of miles overseas.

LOWER MERION FANS WORRIED ABOUT RECORD

Philadelphia, March 6 (AP)—The fans are plenty long in Lower Merion these days.

The suburban high school that has won the PIAA State basketball title for three successive years isn't flooring a team like those of old, and not even the school's most loyal supporters are confident that it'll be four in a row.

Not that L. M. isn't in the running, but the armed forces have taken some of its top men and the effects were clearly visible when the champs barely squeezed out a 35-32 victory over Yeadon during the week-end in a district 1 first-round playoff.

The races look far from settled, in fact, in all but one of the PIAA's 12 districts, only Boswell, perennial district 5 titlist, seems fairly certain of clinching a berth in the inter-district round. The club needs only a victory over Saxton, Lebanon, in district 3, also is one game short of the district title, but faces stiffer opposition.

Here's the tourney setup now: District one: Coatesville-Bridgeport; Glen Nor-Lower Moreland; Radnor-Jenkintown; first round pairings, with Lower Merion in semi-finals. Coatesville strong.

District two: Ten teams in running, with Berwick-Nanticoke game Monday night important; Luzerne and Taylor look good.

Semi-Final Here
District three: Columbia and Chambersburg clash Tuesday at Gettysburg for right to play Lebanon.

District 4: Coudersport-Elkland; Athens-Sayre; Williamsport-Conyngham and Kulpmont-Bloomsburg in first round games this week.

District five: Boswell favored to whip Saxton.

District six: Johnstown-Franklin borough winner Friday will go into district final; Altoona-Lewistown winner to meet Lock Haven.

District seven: Duquesne-Rankin tilt, featuring a couple of former state champions, overshadowed Brentwood-Beaver Falls game in semi-finals.

District eight: South Hills-Oliver and Westinghouse-Peabody games look close.

District nine: Bradford-Ridgeway paired in one semi-final, with Clinton to meet winner of Dubois-Brookville-Punxsutawney in other.

District ten: Sharon, former champ, against Erie East and Warren against Cranberry in semi-final games.

Big Game Saturday
District eleven: Key battle between Allentown and Hazleton next Saturday, winner moving into first round against Minersville; other pairings: Frackville-Hegins; Palmerton-Wilson boro and Nesquehoning-Weatherly.

District twelve: Dalton-Clark's Summit listed only as semi-final, but winner should be odds-on choice over victor in Hartford-Mill City tilt.

The first inter district round is scheduled March 21, with these pairings of district champions: Upper Bracket 1-3; 4-12; 11 oye; 2 bye; Lower bracket 7 but; 8-10; 5-6; 9 bye; regional semi-finals are March 25; regional finals March 28, and the title game April 1.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, March 6 (AP)—Remember way back when baseball fans used to get steamed up because a few prominent players hadn't signed their contracts by this time of the year? . . . Well, there's still a week or 10 days before 1944 spring training starts and a lot more players are unsigned than signed.

Not many are hollering for more dough, but you'll notice that it's guys like Spud Chandler, Joe Gordon, Billy Herman, Stan Spence, Ray Mack, Doc Cramer and Dick Bartell who are either talking about sticking to their war jobs or aren't saying anything. . . . Washington has 34 players signed, the other clubs only 12 or 15 apiece. . . . The club owners, of course, claim it's just a sign that a lot of the boys are uncertain about their draft status and that they'll bring them papers when they report, but still it starts you wondering.

SLIGHT CASE OF CONFUSION
Just as a sample of what the major league magnates are up against in their efforts to line up their 1944 squads, a Newark, New Jersey, paper yesterday ran a story quoting Eddie Mayo as saying that he had given up baseball 'at least for the duration'. . . . Two columns away on the same page appeared a wire story listing eleven players who had signed Detroit contracts for 1944. . . . One of them was Eddie Mayo.

MONDAY MATINEE
Although Indiana is supposed to be the real hotbed of basketball, two Ohio teams will be in national college tourneys this year. . . . And, by the way, where's Kansas? . . . Dutch Warmerdam, whose only appearance of the indoor track season will be at the Chicago relays, March 18, has been working out at Monmouth college on a runway made of boards from the bleachers. Melville Haskell, presiding steward at Tucson's Rillito race track, is trying to organize an association to register quarter horses and keep ringers off the southwestern tracks that feature these sprinters. . . . The Cincy Reds and Indianapolis Indians will have more room for spring training than they bargained for. The Army trainees, who are to move out by April 1, have been almost monopolizing the Indiana U. field house.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR
Ed Danforth, Atlanta Journal: "Alsab has been classified 4-F by Hialeah track officials."

SERVICE DEPT.
Pvt. Johnny Gayer, former Butte, Montana, amateur boxer was the only Yank to win a title in a recent Allied tournament in India which drew more than 200 entries. . . . Lieut. Charlie Speidel, whose Penn State wrestling won six eastern championships in 15 years and who has tutored the North Carolina Navy Pre-Flight grapplers for the past two seasons, now is somewhere in the Pacific. . . . Marine Herb Brydson, who has chalked up 11 ring victories during short leaves from the Quantico, Virginia, base, reports he has been given an important assignment that will interrupt his boxing progress. . . . Writing from England that he has been watching British soccer and is looking forward to seeing some rugby. Sgt. Ed Piggy Simandl, former Newark, New Jersey, pro football player and manager, adds "I was pretty far at soccer years ago. In my kicks I may have missed the ball, but never the shin."

NEW PRO GRID LOOP FORECAST

Pittsburgh, March 6 (AP)—A new major professional grid loop with franchises in cities from coast to coast is in the making, the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette said today.

A meeting to organize this circuit, to vie for topnotch recognition with the National Football league, is scheduled to be held in Pittsburgh "within 30 days," the newspaper said.

The Post-Gazette asserted a conference was scheduled for yesterday, but that adverse traveling conditions forced a last-minute postponement. No indication was given as to the size of the proposed league.

Would Travel by Air
The Post-Gazette added: "Looking forward to post-war days, the new circuit anticipates doing all its traveling by air. This will enable a coast-to-coast league to operate smoothly, a problem which barred far west franchise seekers from the National league in the past."

None of the cities where franchises might be placed was mentioned, but plans are definite to include one or two from the Pacific coast. Pittsburgh, incidentally, will not be represented, the article said.

The newspaper said it understood the new league does not intend starting competition until 1945.

Poor Records For West Court Season
Pittsburgh, March 6 (AP)—College basketball in this district has wound up another season—but the 1943-44 campaign was the worst in years so far as won-loss records go.

The dubious honor of having won only one game in 16 belonged to Carnegie Tech. The hapless Tartans called it quits after undergoing a 67-25 drubbing at the hands of West Virginia Saturday night.

The best performance on the hardwood was shown by the all-civilian Washington & Jefferson Presidents who took the district mythical title for a second year with 11 triumphs and seven losses.

Westminster College followed with 11 victories and eight defeats, but it was the most mediocre season for Coach Grover Washabaugh since he took the reins seven years ago. The Titans lost out in the curtain-ringer Saturday to Oklahoma University at Buffalo, 54-36.

Other won-loss records for district teams included seven and six for Bethany, nine and nine for Geneva, seven and seven for Pitt, and eight and 11 for West Virginia.

An Evening Thought

A solemn and religious regard to spiritual and eternal things is an indispensable element of all true greatness.—Daniel Webster.

Just Folks

Brave Boy
I never dared the years could fly

For one so small so swiftly by.
But yesterday, it seems to me,
I had him sitting on my knee.
A wide-eyed little tousled head,
As unto him some tale I read.

Not long ago, beside his bed,
I waited till his prayers he'd said.
Or, standing at the kitchen sink,
Smiled at his lisp: "I wanna drink!"

Not long ago—ten years—no more,
I took him to the school house door.

I've still the medicaments I use
For every little cut and bruise.
I still can see his trembling chin
When, bleeding, he'd come running in.
To say: "I've hurt myself," and I
Would answer: "Brave boys never cry!"

I thought the hazards of the street
Were all he'd ever have to meet.
Now danger very real and grim
By day and night is facing him.
But this I know, in peril grave
My little boy is being brave.

Today's Talk

FRONTIERS

Alexander, it is said, sighed and grew bored—because there were no more worlds to conquer. I wonder if there isn't something of an Alexander in most of us. Especially when we arrive at a point where we think we have established our "place in the sun," or become so efficient that we let down in our efforts, stop dreaming dreams, and consider it safer to let someone else get away with what rightfully should be ours.

On the tombstone of the English historian J. R. Green were cut these words in the marble: "He died learning." No frontiers for him, that he considered a part of his good past.

Physical frontiers are wiped away by the progress of man, with his genius obliterating them. But there can be no going away with Mental Frontiers. There is always a new one ahead! And one to be conquered.

I like to note the growth of a writer's mind, from his first book to his latest. I have recently been reading the journals of Emerson. I read the one kept in early life and then I read the latest of his reflections. From year to year I could note a ripening of mind—Mental Frontiers being met, cultivated and made useful, and then a quickening pace to newer ones.

There should be no let-down to the growth or development of the Mind. All should be a joyous journey to the very end. That nation is greatest whose frontiers reach around the world, yet without interference.

The human mind knows no "last Frontier." Each new day presents one—to be handled with intelligence and joy. And each new year, as well. Many a past Frontier, once full of activity and hope, now echoes nothing but silence and forgetfulness. Many remain only as "Ghost Towns."

The mind of an Edison, or a Justice Holmes, could not conceive of a "last Frontier," nor can such a mind as that of Henry Ford. For such there remains still another to reach—and conquer! Should it be any different for any of us, though in comparative obscurity, seeking to mete out our days usefully?

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Peacetime Casualties."

The Caribou of Alaska are excellent swimmers, moving through the water as fast as five miles an hour when frightened.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

From the National Intelligencer of Thursday, Most Awful and Most Lamentable Catastrophe!

In the whole course of our lives it has never fallen to our lot to announce to our readers a more shocking calamity than that which occurred on board the United States Ship Princeton yesterday afternoon, whilst under way in the river Potomac fourteen or fifteen miles below this city.

Yesterday was a day appointed by the courtesy of Capt. Stockton, Commander of the Princeton, for receiving as visitors to his fine ship a great number of guests, with their families, invited to spend the day on board.

During the passage down one of the large guns (carrying a ball of 225 pounds) was fired more than once. On the return trip up the river the gun was fired. The gun had burst, at a point three or four feet from the breach, and scattered death and desolation around. Among the slain were Mr. Uphur, Secretary of State, Mr. Gilmer, recently placed at the head of the Navy, Commodore Kennon, one of its gallant officers, and a number of others. Seventeen seamen were wounded, several of them badly.

Married, On Tuesday, by Rev. J. C. Watson, Col. Robert Cobean, of Cumberland township, to Miss Nancy McClure M'Henry, daughter of Capt. Victor M'Henry, of Franklin township.

On the 29th ult., by the Rev. Mr. Seehler, Mr. Barney Snyder, (of Frederick), to Miss Matilda Kuhn, both of this county.

On the same day, by the same, Mr. Samuel Lohr to Miss Elizabeth Dittenhafer both of this county.

On the 28th ult., by the Rev. D. Clark, Mr. Johnston Hill, of Liberty township, to Miss Elizabeth Witherow, of Hamilton township.

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Normal School.—Mr. Sheely announces the opening of the next session of his Normal School on the 20th inst., to continue 13 weeks.

Pastoral.—Rev. J. E. Honeycutt, lately of Duncannon, Pa. has received and accepted a call to the Lutheran church at New Chester, this county, and entered upon his duties.

Inauguration of Grant and Colfax.—Washington, March 4 1869.—Grand and imposing, yet simple and unpretending, have been the ceremonies today, which were witnessed by at least twenty thousand strangers. The huzzas which rent the air were almost deafening as the general rode past in the procession, and as he approached nearer to the Capitol the enthusiasm increased to such an extent that it was feared that the dignity of the occasion would be compromised by an attempt to take the horses out of the General's carriage and draw it the rest of the way by hand.

It was noticed that no members of the outgoing cabinet were present in the Senate gallery. President Johnson himself was present in the building, having ridden from the White House in his own carriage, but he did not appear in the chamber.

At twelve o'clock President elect Grant and Vice President Colfax entered the Senate chamber. Almost at the same time the Justices of the Supreme Court, headed by Chief Justice Chase took the seats prepared for them.

The House of Representatives entered the hall, headed by its officers. Speaker Pomeroy and Mr. McPherson, clerk. In the presence of this assembly Mr. Colfax took the usual oath of office.

The scene then shifted to the east portico of the Capitol for the ceremonies of the inauguration of the President elect. When the cheering had subsided Chief Justice Chase proceeded to administer the oath of office to General Grant. After much cheering General Grant commenced to read the inaugural address. The address was in his own handwriting and bore marks of recent changes.

Contrary to general expectations, Gen. Grant held no reception at the White House, but after smoking a quiet cigar with the Vice President and a few friends in the Executive office, he returned to his private residence.

The inaugural ball at night was a brilliant affair. Nearly two thousand tickets were sold, equal to about $18,000. The new wing of the Treasury Department was elegantly arranged for the purpose. There were many elegant toilets and not a few distinguished gentlemen were in the assemblage.

Gen. Howard will succeed Phil Sheridan in command of the Indian country.

The reelection of our colleague, Hon. Edward McPherson, as Clerk of the House of Representatives for the fourth term, by a vote of two to one over all competition, is made the occasion of a number of complimentary notices by the Republican press generally. Mr. McPherson made a flying visit to his home in this place, during the past week and was warmly congratulated by his numerous personal friends. He is in good health and looks well.

FAVOR SINGLE COMMAND FOR ARMY AND NAVY

By WILLIAM FRYE

Washington, March 6 (AP)—Integration of the nation's armed forces under a single supreme command and staff in one department of war is the common aim of a growing number of American military leaders and thinkers.

As of today, the weight of opinion appears to favor post war action on a complete overhaul of military machinery. Some highly-placed officials believe the unification could be effected now, and add efficiency and speed to the conduct of the war; but the majority is disposed to move more cautiously.

A major obstacle to those favoring immediate action is the fact that while there is wide agreement on the desirability of some kind of streamlining, there is no agreement on the pattern.

Question of Timing
Furthermore, men closely associated with staff planning point out that ranking officers whose operating experience would contribute the most valuable suggestions for revision of command and administrative functions—such men as the joint chiefs of staff, their principal assistants, and perhaps the theater commanders—are so pressed by the immediate problems that they cannot give careful consideration to proposed changes.

Proponents of immediate action to consolidate the Army, Navy and Air Forces assert, however, that the step would cause the least friction, be achieved with minimum of "politicizing" and jealousy, if taken now, when there is actual operating unity in many important respects in the combat zones and in the top staff in Washington.

Staff studies have been in progress on the subject for some time, and it may be that reports have been made on both the Army and Navy side. One of this country's outstanding military theorists, Brig. Gen. John MacArthur Palmer, who is generally regarded as the architect of the national defense act of 1920, has been quietly recalled from retirement and assigned to special work by Gen. George C. Marshall. The chief of staff is a close personal friend of Palmer, and it would be a safe guess that the two men see pretty much eye to eye on future military policy.

UNEMPLOYMENT FUND STUDIED

Harrisburg, March 6 (AP)—Studies to determine the effect of demobilization on the commonwealth's unemployment compensation fund have been started by the state Unemployment Compensation bureau.

Rolland S. Wallis, director of the research and statistics section, said the fund at the close of 1943 had a balance of nearly $469,000,000, an increase of 45 per cent over the preceding year.

More than $151,000,000 in contributions was added to the fund last year and another $7,600,000 accumulated as interest. Approximately $4,700,000 was distributed as unemployment benefits in more than 330,000 individual checks, a decrease of 74 per cent under the number written during 1942.

"A total of nearly 39,000 persons received one or more checks during 1943, while more than 15,000 were reported as having exhausted their benefit rights," Wallis said.

"The rapid increase in the fund balance is expected to be checked when the experience rating act becomes effective."

First payments under this plan, approved by the 1943 Legislature to provide a graduated scale of employer contributions, are due for the first quarter of the current year.

Rigid Quarantine In Rabies Scare

Erie, Pa., March 6 (AP)—Dr. Janas R. Smith, city health officer, declared a state of emergency and clamped down a rigid quarantine on all dogs after at least 10 persons were bitten yesterday by a reportedly rabid dog.

Dr. R. L. Rouse, veterinarian, said the dog which bit the citizens, several of them on the way to church, was suffering from rabies. The animal, an Irish setter, was shot by two policemen after running at large about 12 hours. The head will be sent to the state laboratory at Harrisburg.

Doctor Smith said he will open a clinic tomorrow to give all victims the Pasteur treatment.

He said all dogs on the street unleashed, whether licensed or not, will be taken up and destroyed.

General News.—Massachusetts ought to be a State in good standing as she manufacturers shoes and boots to the value of a hundred million dollars annually.

The house which was originally presented to Gen. Grant by his friends, has now been bought from him and presented to Gen. Sherman by sundry personal friends, admirers of that officer.

Flashes Of Life

NO ARGUMENT

Washington (AP)—During a long Senate speech, Senator Langer (R-ND) recalled an error in the Congressional record and said it should be fixed.

Senator Danaher (R-Conn) interrupted: "Was it the senator's intention to ask unanimous consent to correct the record?"

"That's right," Langer replied. "Then I ask that it be noted," said Danaher, "I have no objection."

That made it unanimous. He was Langer's entire audience at the time.

CONTROVERSY

Topeka, Kan. (AP)—Question in dry Kansas—

Was it champagne or was it seltzer, champagne flavored, that burst over the nose of an airmen christened at the Topeka Air Base?

Gov. Andrew Schoepel, who did not attend the ceremonies, holds to the latter theory.

But Betty McGrew, who shattered the bottle, says:

"Just between you and me, I think it was real."

THE BEST POLICY

Camp Kearns, Utah (AP)—Pvt. Sidney Bletzer of Milwaukee wired his commanding officer:

"No death, no emergency. Request extension of furlough. Having wonderful time."

Maj. George A. Lloyd wired back:

"Reward for honesty extension of five days on present furlough granted."

ANIMAL ACT

Chicago (AP)—There was too much monkey business about her marriage, Mrs. Florence C. Meyers said in asking a divorce from Wilbur S. Meyers, Peoria, Ill.

Meyers, said Mrs. Meyers, makes his living by street performances of a monkey and a dog, and when at home insisted upon the animals dining at the family table.

NO HELP NEEDED

Springfield, Ill. (AP)—The Illinois Public Aid commission has listed these former recipients of old age pensions as self-supporting:

A 76 year old chauffeur, a 73 year old munitions worker, an 81 year old seamstress, a 71 year old woman manager of a poultry farm, and a 67 year old man who wrote such a convincing letter to a California shipyard that he won a job—plus transportation.

MOVIE STUFF

New London, Conn. (AP)—Henry Belgrade, visiting at the home of expectant parents, unexpectedly found himself in the role of a midwife and, while the father was out searching a physician, used technique "I learned about it in a movie somewhere" as he expertly delivered a baby girl.

STILL TRYING FOR RECORD
Philadelphia (AP)—The records show that Harry C. Pass, pattern-maker in a shipyard, hasn't been late for work in 46 years.

He has four years to go, however, to equal the record of his father, also a shipyard worker, who was on time every work day for half a century.

TANGLEFOOT

VOICES OF THE DEEP
Kansas City (AP)—Dr. S. S. Hill called firemen to investigate a strange racket under the front porch of his recently-purchased home.

Bargain Hunters

New York, March 6 (AP)—Income tax "bargain hunters," taxpayers who "shop around" for a low income tax payment, made their appearance today before already-harried income tax collectors.

Three "shoppers," who admitted they were going from one tax office to another seeking the deputy or clerk able to reduce their return to the lowest possible figure, appeared at an office where upwards of 8,500 returns are completed daily.

One candid taxpayer showed a return completed in another Internal Revenue office, said he was dissatisfied with the result and was "looking for something better."

Collector William J. Pedrick said there was no prohibition against "shopping around."

May Ask Lowering Of Voting Limit

Pittsburgh, March 6 (AP) — If Governor Martin should call a special session of the Legislature this year, State Senator John M. Walker said he would seek an amendment to the Pennsylvania constitution lowering the age limit of voters to 18.

The chairman of the Senate Judiciary committee declared that he is "thoroughly convinced" boys and girls between 18 and 21 years of age are "just as capable of self-expression in governmental problems as people between the ages of 21 and 31."

He added that no better way can be found to recognize the patriotic service of the 18- to 21-year group than to grant them the franchise.

If approved at a special session, Senator Walker's bill would have to be approved a second time at another session and then go to a vote at the next state-wide election.

FIRSTHAND EXPERIENCE

Lincoln, Neb. (AP) — The war manpower commission for Nebraska has a good record for solving manpower problems in industry — but it's having a labor shortage of its own.

Miss Mary E. Sawtell, acting state WMC director, has put out a call for 15 interviewers to replace men and women entering military service.

They're needed in the employment service division.

Sees Attempts To Destroy Christianity

Philadelphia, March 6 (AP)—An attempt to destroy Christianity is being made throughout America, the Rev. M. J. Toohy, of Newark, N. J., national chaplain of the Catholic war veterans, told the CWV's Pennsylvania department yesterday.

"The present anti-Catholic campaign in this country is communistic and therefore atheistic," he said. "The purpose of these attacks is to destroy Christianity and ruin civilization, not only in America but in the whole world. This would lead to a third world war."

The CWV elected Chester S. Hunter, Philadelphia, to be state commander.

House: To override President's veto of the tax bill, 299 voting to override, 95 voting to sustain; to override, all the Republicans, plus Walter, Democrat; to sustain, all the Democrats, except Walter.

DEMOCRATS ARE BUSY MENDING PARTY SPLITS

Washington, March 6 (AP)—With White House approval, National Chairman Robert E. Hannegan has arranged to provide financial and other party assistance for many of the anti-administration Democrats in congress who are running for reelection this year, including some who were marked as intended victims of the ill-fated purge of 1938.

Preaching that the Democrats must patch up their differences and face the Republicans as a united party, Hannegan has taken up where former Chairman Frank C. Walker left off in attempts to bring back into the fold some of the senators and congressmen who have been openly critical at times of President Roosevelt's policies.

ALLIES POUR

Negros, presaging larger scale battles.

A steady stream of American soldiers and supplies is reinforcing First Cavalry Division troops which raided Los Negros as a "reconnaissance in force" last Tuesday but whose operation suddenly was converted into a bid for complete occupation after an on-the-spot decision by MacArthur.

At least 3,000 Japanese have been killed or wounded since the landing, MacArthur said yesterday, including 700 killed in a wild attack Friday night. American losses were 61 dead and 244 wounded, he said.

Bombers Active

In addition to relentless bombing and strafing attacks in support of the Los Negros troops, Allied airmen hit Lorengau, main Japanese base on Manus Island, smashed Ra-baul, New Britain, with 164 tons of bombs Saturday, and blasted the enemy's New Guinea bases at Ve-
wak, Hollandia and Hansa Bay.

In Burma, U. S. heavy bombers
raided Japanese air bases in the
south, medium bombers and fighters
raked numerous targets in the north
and dive bombers supported patrol
activity on the Arakan front.

Jap-American Farm
Labor Is Protested

Lewes, Del., March 6 (AP)—
Charles Mills will farm his 1,200 acres without Japanese-American help—is his fellow farmers have their way.

When Mills hired three Japanese-Americans — former Californians from western relocation camps —
and disclosed plans to hire 50 more, about 100 other Delaware farmers called a "protest meeting" for tomorrow night.

"The Japanese invasion has already happened," said Roland D. J.
Marsh, spokesman for the group,
most of them descendant of 17th century English settlers.

"We fear that larger numbers will prove a menace to our wives and children. If we must have outside labor, let it be German or Italian war prisoners under armed military guard."

Marsh said he understands the laborers had been "certified" by the FBI and can be trusted" but added:
"Then why aren't they returned to California?"

Husband Held In Murder Of Wife

Washington, Pa., March 6 (AP)— Linn Stichik, 30, faces a murder charge which District Attorney George T. Cummins said he will file today in the slaying of Stichik's wife, Edith Marie, 26.

Cummins said Stichik gave himself up to Constable Dryburg at Den-bo Saturday after he admitted stabbing his wife a number of times with a penknife.

Sheriff C. O. Williams and Dryburg found Mrs. Stichik's body in the kitchen and a bloodstained knife
on a dresser, Cummins added.

FEWER APPLY

Harrisburg, March 6 (AP)—The Department of Public Assistance reports applications for state relief dropped from 564,000 in 1939 to 80,- 000 last year but investigation of applicants remained "a sizable job." Approximately 30,000 of the 80,000 applicants were rejected after investigation because of failure to meet eligibility requirements, the department added.

Annual precipitation on the Mojava-Gila desert is less than five inches.

ENNYLABEGAN IS PARADISE AFTER
YANK INVASION

By WILLIAM L. WORDEN
Kwajalein Atoll, Marshall Islands,
Feb. 13 (Delayed) (AP)—By contrast to the other islands of Kwajalein atoll, Ennylabegan is a tropical paradise.

The others—Rou, Namur, Kwajalein itself, Ebeye, Enubuj—had been wrecked, their trees blown down, buildings smashed, their beaches lined with the dead who were their defenders. Today they are saved from being pestiferous
only by the bitter, retching work of thousands of American soldiers and marines who have been burying the enemy's New Guinea bases at Ve-
wak, Hollandia and Hansa Bay.

In Burma, U. S. heavy bombers
raided Japanese air bases in the
south, medium bombers and fighters
raked numerous targets in the north
and dive bombers supported patrol
activity on the Arakan front.

It was not that the Japanese had no plans for the island. They did.
They had a lookout tower—and in the center of the island had built a well-planned barracks for 200 men.
They, with the concrete-floored warehouses, were almost completed

two weeks ago but had not yet been used.

An American Cemetery

There were no forts, pillboxes or guns.

So when the Americans came, a reconnaissance troop was enough.
Today there is the cryptic sign—
"25 dead Japs buried here 2 Feb.
44." But on the whole, the killing of a few dozen Japanese did the island no particular harm.

There are other signs of war—an American cemetery with more than 100 neat white crosses. There are a few nameless, blank white crosses.

There are some wounded Marshallers. A few have missing hands or legs. There are enormous Marshallers matrons with gunshots
through their flesh, little boys naked except for bandages where their heads were cut by shrapnel. But there seems to be no resentment.

Life Goes On

Marshall Island life proceeds without much change. Women wash their ragged clothes (the feminine outfit here consists of a mother hubbard, often worn over an under-skirt) on a cement block outside the house. Children whine around their mothers.

Many of the men have replaced their own garments with oversized American Army clothes.

turbed and one tiny chicken runs

YOUR VICTORY GARDEN

By Robert Geiger
AP Features Writer

Part 7

Succession cropping is the invisible weapon by which the Victory Gardener increases output and wins his food battle.

If he has only a small plot, he may grow two or more crops upon most of the land because many crops mature in one-half, or less,
of the growing season.

Care must be taken in selecting the crops that are to succeed each other; otherwise the fertility of the soil will decrease.

A general rule to follow is this:
The root crops should be succeeded by vine crops, and vice versa.

The crops that require an entire season to bear include tomatoes, lima beans, some pole snap beans and chard. Therefore they don't lend themselves to succession planting.

Victor R. Boswell, garden specialist for the United States department of agriculture and Victory Garden consultant, last year studied succession cropping for Victory Gardens and made these recommendations:

Plant two rows 50 feet long, of Kentucky Wonder pole snap beans in the spring and harvest them as early as possible. Three rows of Purple Top Globe turnips may be planted in this space.

In late July a small garden's half row of lettuce may be followed by a half row of Chantenay or Nantes carrots.

Two rows of collards may fol-

COLLEGE MAY SALVAGE FLAG

The Navy will receive the same training as other students in the Navy's college program, but will be enlisted in Class V-12, U. S. Naval Reserve, instead of inducted, as is the case with 18 and 19-year-olds.
They will receive college training for varying 16-week periods, depending upon the type of course they choose.

Washington, March 6 (AP)—Pre-induction college training at government expense was held out to 17-year-old high school graduates today as the "best possible opportunity for them to serve their country."

President Roosevelt so characterized the new program in a statement urging as many of the youths
as possible to take the joint Army-Navy examinations which will be held March 15 in numerous high schools and colleges.

"This enlarged program," the president said, "will provide the armed forces with a necessary reservoir of younger men with specialized training at the college level."

Projected Training

Any boy of the proper age who will be a high school graduate by July 1 is eligible. Those who pass and are accepted after physical examination will have opportunity to apply for the reserve and express a preference for Army or Navy training. Those selected will be sent to colleges, in uniform and drawing pay, at least until they are 18.

Scientific, pre-medical, mathematics and physics courses will make up the bulk of the training as now projected. A limited number of the students will specialize in languages. Educators have suggested that as many as 100,000 may be eligible.

low one row each of Crosby Egyptian
or Early Wonder beets, Chantenay or Nantes carrots and Shogoin turnips.

Spring-planted Golden Acre cabbage and yellow onions may be followed by Detroit Dark Red beets.

A row of Scarlet Globe radishes and a row of Long Standing Blooms-dale spinach may be followed by two runs of U. S. No. 5 Refugee beans.

The choice of locally adapted varieties is of great importance in a successful harvest of succession crops and therefore it is important for a gardener to consult his seedsman or agricultural agent.

An Evening Thought

A solemn and religious regard to spiritual and eternal things is an indispensable element of all true greatness.—Daniel Webster.

Just Folks

BRAVE BOY

I never dreamed the years could fly

For one so small so swiftly by.
But yesterday, it seems to me,
I had him sitting on my knee.
A wide-eyed little tousled head,
As unto him some tale I read.

Not long ago, beside his bed,
I waited till his prayers he'd said.
Or, standing at the kitchen sink,
Smiled at his liped: "I wanna drink!"

Not long ago—ten years—no more,
I took him to the school house door.

I've still the medicaments I'd use
For every little cut and bruise.
I still can see his trembling chin
When, bleeding, he'd come running in.

To say: "I've hurt myself," and I
Would answer: "Brave boys never cry!"

I thought the hazards of the street
Were all he'd ever have to meet.
Now danger very real and grim
By day and night is facing him.
But this I know, in peril grave
My little boy is being brave.

FRONTIERS

Alexander, it is said, sighed and grew bored—because there were no more worlds to conquer. I wonder if there isn't something of an Alexander in most of us. Especially when we arrive at a point where we think we have established our "place in the sun," or become so efficient that we let down in our efforts, stop dreaming dreams, and consider it safer to let someone else get away with what rightfully should be ours.

On the tombstone of the English historian J. R. Green were cut these words in the marble: "He died learning." No frontiers for him, that he considered a part of his good past.

Physical frontiers are wiped away by the progress of man, with his genius obliterating them. But there can be no doing away with Mental Frontiers. There is always a new one ahead! And one to be conquered.

I like to note the growth of a writer's mind, from his first book to his latest. I have recently been reading the journals of Emerson. I read the one kept in early life and then I read the latest of his reflections. From year to year I could note a ripening of mind—Mental Frontiers being met, cultivated and made useful, and then a quickening pace to newer ones.

There should be no let-down to the growth or development of the Mind. All should be a joyous journey to the very end. That nation is greatest whose frontiers reach around the world, yet without interference.

The human mind knows no "last frontier." Each new day presents one—to be handled with intelligence and joy. And each new year, as well. Many a past frontier, once full of activity and hope, now echoes nothing but silence and forgetfulness. Many remain only as "Ghost Towns."

The mind of an Edison, or a Justice Holmes, could not conceive of a "last frontier," nor can such a mind as that of Henry Ford. For such there remains still another to reach—and conquer! Should it be any different for any of us, though in comparative obscurity, seeking to mete out our days usefully?

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Peacetime Casualties."

The Caribou of Alaska are excellent swimmers, moving through the water as fast as five miles an hour when frightened.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

From the National Intelligencer of Thursday, Most Awful and Most Lamentable Catastrophe! In the whole course of our lives it has never fallen to our lot to announce to our readers a more shocking calamity than that which occurred on board the United States Ship Princeton yesterday afternoon, whilst under way in the river Potomac fourteen or fifteen miles below this city.

Yesterday was a day appointed by the courtesy of Capt. Stockton, Commander of the Princeton, for receiving as visitors to his fine ship a great number of guests, with their families, invited to spend the day on board.

During the passage down one of the large guns (carrying a ball of 225 pounds) was fired more than once. . . . On the return trip up the river the gun was fired. . . . The gun had burst, at a point three or four feet from the breach, and scattered death and desolation around. Among the slain were Mr. Uphur, Secretary of State, Mr. Gilmer, recently placed at the head of the Navy, Commodore Kennon, one of its gallant officers, and a number of others. . . . Seventeen seamen were wounded, several of them badly.

Married. On Tuesday, by Rev. J. C. Watson, Col. Robert Cobean, of Cumberland township, to Miss Nancy McChure M'Ilhenny, daughter of Capt. Victor M'Ilhenny, of Franklin township.

On the 29th ult., by the Rev. Mr. Sechler, Mr. Barney Snyder, (of Frederick,) to Miss Matilda Kuhn, both of this county.

On the same day, by the same, Mr. Samuel Lohr to Miss Elizabeth Dittenhafer both of this county.

On the 28th ult., by the Rev. D. Clark, Mr. Johnston Hill, of Liberty township, to Miss Elizabeth Withersow, of Hamilton township.

Normal School.—Mr. Sheely announces the opening of the next session of his Normal School on the 20th inst., to continue 13 weeks.

Pastoral.—Rev. J. E. Honeycutt, lately of Duncannon, Pa., has received and accepted a call to the Lutheran church at New Chester, this county, and entered upon his duties.

Inauguration of Grant and Colfax.

—Washington, March 4 1869—Grand and imposing, yet simple and unpretending have been the ceremonies today, which were witnessed by at least twenty thousand strangers. . . . The huzzas which rent the air were almost deafening as the general rode past in the procession, and as he approached nearer to the Capitol the enthusiasm increased to such an extent that it was feared that the dignity of the occasion would be compromised by an attempt to take the horses out of the General's carriage and draw it the rest of the way by hand. . . .

It was noticed that no members of the outgoing cabinet were present in the Senate gallery. President Johnson himself was present in the building, having ridden from the White House in his own carriage, but he did not appear in the chamber.

At twelve o'clock President elect Grant and Vice President Colfax entered the Senate chamber. Almost at the same time the Justices of the Supreme Court, headed by Chief Justice Chase took the seats prepared for them.

The House of Representatives entered the hall, headed by its officers, Speaker Pomeroy and Mr. McPherson, clerk. In the presence of this assembly Mr. Colfax took the usual oath of office.

The scene then shifted to the east portico of the Capitol for the ceremonies of the inauguration of the President elect. . . . When the cheering had subsided Chief Justice Chase proceeded to administer the oath of office to General Grant. . . . After much cheering General Grant commenced to read the inaugural address. The address was in his own handwriting and bore marks of recent changes. . . .

Contrary to general expectations, Gen. Grant held no reception at the White House, but after smoking a quiet cigar with the Vice President and a few friends in the Executive office, he returned to his private residence. . . .

The inaugural ball at night was a brilliant affair. Nearly two thousand tickets were sold, equal to about $18,000. The new wing of the Treasury Department was elegantly arranged for the purpose. There were many elegant toilets and not a few distinguished gentlemen were in the assemblage.

Gen. Howard will succeed Phil Sheridan in command of the Indian country.

The reelection of our colleague, Hon. Edward McPherson, as Clerk of the House of Representatives for the fourth term, by a vote of two to one over all competition, is made the occasion of a number of complimentary notices by the Republican press generally. Mr. McPherson made a flying visit to his home in this place, during the past week and was warmly congratulated by his

FAVOR SINGLE COMMAND FOR ARMY AND NAVY

By WILLIAM FRYE

Washington, March 6 (AP)—Integration of the nation's armed forces under a single supreme command and staff in one department of war is the common aim of a growing number of American military leaders and thinkers.

As of today, the weight of opinion appears to favor post war action on a complete overhaul of military machinery. Some highly-placed officials believe the unification could be effected now, and add efficiency and speed to the conduct of the war; but the majority is disposed to move more cautiously.

A major obstacle to those favoring immediate action is the fact that while there is wide agreement on the desirability of some kind of streamlining, there is no agreement on the pattern.

Question of Timing

Furthermore, men closely associated with staff planning point out that ranking officers whose operating experience would contribute the most valuable suggestions for revision of command and administrative functions—such men as the joint chiefs of staff, their principal assistants, and perhaps the theater commanders—are so pressed by the immediate problems that they cannot give careful consideration to proposed changes.

Proponents of immediate action to consolidate the Army, Navy and Air Forces assert, however, that the step would cause the least friction, be achieved with minimum of "politicizing" and jealousy, if taken now, when there is actual operating unity in many important respects in the combat zones and in the top staff in Washington.

Staff studies have been in progress on the subject for some time, and it may be that reports have been made on both the Army and Navy side. One of this country's outstanding military theorists, Brig. Gen. John Macauley Palmer, who is generally regarded as the architect of the national defense act of 1920, has been quietly recalled from retirement and assigned to special work by Gen. George C. Marshall. The chief of staff is a close personal friend of Palmer, and it would be a safe guess that the two men see pretty much eye to eye on future military policy.

UNEMPLOYMENT FUND STUDIED

Harrisburg, March 6 (AP)—

Studies to determine the effect of demobilization on the commonwealth's unemployment compensation fund have been started by the state Unemployment Compensation bureau.

Rolland S. Wallis, director of the research and statistics section, said the fund at the close of 1943 had a balance of nearly $469,000,000, an increase of 45 per cent over the preceding year.

More than $151,000,000 in contributions was added to the fund last year and another $7,600,000 accumulated as interest. Approximately $4,700,000 was distributed as unemployment benefits in more than 330,000 individual checks, a decrease of 74 per cent under the number written during 1942.

"A total of nearly 39,000 persons received one or more checks during 1943, while more than 15,000 were reported as having exhausted their benefit rights," Wallis said.

"The rapid increase in the fund balance is expected to be checked when the experience rating act becomes effective."

First payments under this plan, approved by the 1943 Legislature to provide a graduated scale of employer contributions, are due for the first quarter of the current year.

Rigid Quarantine In Rabies Scare

Erie, Pa., March 6 (AP)—Dr. Janas R. Smith, city health officer, declared a state of emergency and clamped down a rigid quarantine on all dogs after at least 10 persons were bitten yesterday by a reportedly rabid dog.

Dr. R. L. Rouse, veterinarian, said the dog which bit the citizens, several of them on the way to church, was suffering from rabies. The animal, an Irish setter, was shot by two policemen after running at large about 12 hours. The head will be sent to the state laboratory at Harrisburg.

Doctor Smith said he will open a clinic tomorrow to give all victims the Pasteur treatment. He said all dogs on the street unleashed, whether licensed or not, will be taken up and destroyed.

General News.—Massachusetts ought to be a State in good standing as she manufactures shoes and boots to the value of a hundred million dollars annually.

The house which was originally presented to Gen. Grant by his friends, has now been bought from him and presented to Gen. Sherman by sundry personal friends, admirers of that officer.

Flashes Of Life

NO ARGUMENT

Washington (AP)—During a long "Senate" speech, Senator Langer (R-ND) recalled an error in the Congressional record and said it should be fixed.

Senator Danaher (R-Conn.) interrupted: "Was it the senator's intention to ask unanimous consent to correct the record?"

"That's right," Langer replied. "Then I ask that it be noted," said Danaher. "I have no objection."

That made it unanimous. He was Langer's entire audience at the time.

CONTROVERSY

Topeka, Ka. (AP)—Question in dry Kansas—

Was it champagne or was it seltzer, champagne flavored, that burst over the nose of an airliner christened at the Topeka Air Base?

Gov. Andrew Schoepel, who did not attend the ceremonies, holds to the latter theory.

But Betty McGrew, who shattered the bottle, says: "Just between you and me, I think it was real."

THE BEST POLICY

Camp Kearns, Utah (AP)—Pvt. Sidney Bletter of Milwaukee wired his commanding officer:

"No death, no emergency. Request extension of furlough. Having wonderful time."

Maj. George A. Lloyd wired back:

"Reward for honesty extension of five days on present furlough granted."

ANIMAL ACT

Chicago (AP)—There was too much monkey business about her marriage, Mrs. Florence C. Meyers said in asking a divorce from Wilbur S. Meyers, Peoria, Ill.

Meyers, said Mrs. Meyers, makes his living by street performances of a monkey and a dog, and when at home insisted upon the animals dining at the family table.

NO HELP NEEDED

Springfield, Ill. (AP)—The Illinois Public Aid commission has listed these former recipients of old age pensions as self-supporting:

MOVIE STUFF

New London, Conn. (AP)—Henry Belgrade, visiting at the home of expectant parents, unexpectedly found himself in the role of a midwife and, while the father was out searching a physician, used technique "I learned about it in a movie somewhere" as he expertly delivered a baby girl.

STILL TRYING FOR RECORD

Philadelphia (AP)—The records show that Harry C. Pass, pattern-maker in a shipyard, hasn't been late for work in 46 years.

He has four years to go, however, to equal the record of his father, also a shipyard worker, who was on time every work day for half a century.

TANGLEFOOT

Williamsport, Pa. (AP)—A local resident took two shoes to the shoemakers, had them resoled — then discovered they were both for the right foot.

VOICES OF THE DEEP

Bargain Hunters

New York, March 6 (AP)—Income tax "bargain hunters," taxpayers who "shop around" for a low income tax payment, made their appearance today before already-harried income tax collectors.

Three "shoppers," who admitted they were going from one tax office to another seeking the deputy or clerk able to reduce their return to the lowest possible figure, appeared at an office where upwards of 8,500 returns are completed daily.

One candid taxpayer showed a return completed in another Internal Revenue office, said he was dissatisfied with the result and was "looking for something better."

Collector William J. Pedrick said there was no prohibition against "shopping around."

May Ask Lowering Of Voting Limit

Pittsburgh, March 6 (AP) — If Governor Martin should call a special session of the Legislature this year, State Senator John M. Walker said he would seek an amendment to the Pennsylvania constitution lowering the age limit of voters to 18.

The chairman of the Senate Judiciary committee declared that he is "thoroughly convinced" boys and girls between 18 and 21 years of age are "just as capable of self-expression in governmental problems as people between the ages of 21 and 31."

He added that no better way can be found to recognize the patriotic service of the 18- to 21-year group than to grant them the franchise.

If approved at a special session, Senator Walker's bill would have to be approved a second time at another session and then go to a vote at the next state-wide election.

Lincoln, Neb. (AP) — The war manpower commission for Nebraska has a good record for solving manpower problems in industry — but it's having a labor shortage of its own.

Miss Mary E. Sawtell, acting state WMC director, has put out a call for 15 interviewers to replace men and women entering military service.

They're needed in the employment service division.

Sees Attempts To Destroy Christianity

Philadelphia, March 6 (AP)—An attempt to destroy Christianity is being made throughout America, the Rev. M. J. Tooley, of Newark, N. J., national chaplain of the Catholic war veterans, told the CWV's Pennsylvania department yesterday.

"The present anti-Catholic campaign in this country is communistic and therefore atheistic," he said. "The purpose of these attacks is to destroy Christianity and ruin civilization, not only in America but in the whole world. This would lead to a third world war."

The CWV elected Chester S. Hunter, Philadelphia, to be state commander.

Negros, presaging larger scale battles.

A steady stream of American soldiers and supplies is reinforcing First Cavalry Division troops which raided Los Negros as a "reconnaissance in force" last Tuesday but whose operation suddenly was converted into a bid for complete occupation after an on-the-spot decision by MacArthur.

At least 3,000 Japanese have been killed or wounded since the landing. MacArthur said yesterday, including 700 killed in a wild attack Friday night. American losses are 61 dead and 244 wounded, he said.

Bombers Active

In addition to relentless bombing and strafing attacks in support of the Los Negros troops, Allied airmen hit Lorengau, main Japanese base on Manus Island; smashed Rabaul, New Britain, with 164 tons of bombs Saturday, and blasted the enemy's New Guinea bases at Wewak, Hollandia and Hansa Bay.

In Burma, U. S. heavy bombers raided Japanese air bases in the south, medium bombers and fighters raked numerous targets in the north and dive bombers supported patrol activity on the Arakan front.

Jap-American Farm Labor Is Protested

Lewes, Del., March 6 (AP)—Charles Mills will farm his 1,200 acres without Japanese-American help—his fellow farmers have their way.

When Mills hired three Japanese-Americans—former Californians from western relocation camps—and disclosed plans to hire 50 more, about 100 other Delaware farmers called a "protest meeting" for tomorrow night.

"The Japanese invasion has already happened," said Roland D. J. Marsh, spokesman for the group, most of them descendant of 17th century English settlers.

"We fear that larger numbers will prove a menace to our wives and children. If we must have outside labor, let it be German or Italian war prisoners under armed military guard."

Marsh said he understands the laborers had been "certified by the FBI and can be trusted" but added: "Then why aren't they returned to California?"

Husband Held In Murder Of Wife

Washington, Pa., March 6 (AP)—Linn Stichik, 30, faces a murder charge which District Attorney George T. Cummins said he will file today in the slaying of Stichik's wife, Edith Marie, 26.

Cummins said Stichik gave himself up to Constable Dryburg at Denbo Saturday after he admitted stabbing his wife a number of times with a penknife.

Sheriff C. O. Williams and Dryburg found Mrs. Stichik's body in the kitchen and a bloodstained knife on a dresser, Cummins added.

Harrisburg, March 6 (AP)—The Department of Public Assistance reports applications for state relief dropped from 564,000 in 1939 to 80,000 last year but investigation of applicants remained "a sizable job." Kwajalein Atoll, Marshall Islands, Feb. 13 (Delayed) (AP)—By contrast to the other islands of Kwajalein atoll, Ennylabegan is a tropical paradise.

The others—Rou, Namur, Kwajalein itself, Ebeye, Enubuj—had been wrecked, their trees blown down, buildings smashed, their beaches lined with the dead who were their defenders. Today they are saved from being pestilential only by the bitter, retching work of thousands of American soldiers and marines who have been burying the men they killed and cleaning up the indescribable mess made by their own bombs and shells.

The Japanese did not get around to defending Ennylabegan, so we did not have to wreck it.

It was not that the Japanese had no plans for the island. They did. They had a lookout tower—and in the center of the island had built a well-planned barracks for 200 men. They, with the concrete-floored warehouses, were almost completed two weeks ago but had not yet been used.

An American Cemetery

There were no forts, pillboxes or guns.

So when the Americans came, a reconnaissance troop was enough. Today there is the cryptic sign: "25 dead Japs buried here 2 Feb. '44." But on the whole, the killing of a few dozen Japanese did the island no particular harm.

There are other signs of war—an American cemetery with more than 100 neat white crosses. There are a few nameless, blank white crosses.

There are some wounded Marshallese. A few have missing hands or legs. There are enormous Marshallese matrons with gunshots through their flesh. Little boys naked except for bandages where their heads were cut by shrapnel. But there seems to be no resentment.

Life Goes On

Marshall Island life proceeds without much change. Women wash their ragged clothes (the feminine outfit here consists of a mother Hubbard, often worn over an undershirt) on a cement block outside the house. Children whine around their mothers.

Many of the men have replaced their own garments with oversized American Army clothes.

Succession cropping is the invisible weapon by which the Victory Gardener increases output and wins his food battle.

If he has only a small plot, he may grow two or more crops upon most of the land because many crops mature in one-half, or less, of the growing season.

Care must be taken in selecting the crops that are to succeed each other; otherwise the fertility of the soil will decrease.

A general rule to follow is this: The root crops should be succeeded by vine crops, and vice versa.

The crops that require an entire season to bear include tomatoes, lima beans, some pole snap beans and chard. Therefore they don't lend themselves to succession planting.

Victor R. Boswell, garden specialist for the United States department of agriculture and Victory Garden consultant, last year studied succession cropping for Victory Gardens and made these recommendations:

Plant two rows 50 feet long, of Kentucky Wonder pole snap beans in the spring and harvest them as early as possible. Three rows of Purple Top Globe turnips may be planted in this space.

In late July a small garden's half row of lettuce may be followed by a half row of Chantenay or Nantes carrots.

Two rows of collards may fol-

The Navy will receive the same training as other students in the Navy's college program, but will be enlisted in Class V-12, U. S. Naval Reserve, instead of inducted, as is the case with 18 and 19-year-olds. They will receive college training for varying 16-week periods, depending upon the type of course they choose.

Washington, March 6 (AP)—Pre-induction college training at government expense was held out to 17-year-old high school graduates today as the "best possible opportunity for them to serve their country."

President Roosevelt so characterized the new program in a statement urging as many of the youths as possible to take the joint Army-Navy examinations which will be held March 15 in numerous high schools and colleges.

"This enlarged program," the president said, "will provide the armed forces with a necessary reservoir of younger men with specialized training at the college level."

Projected Training

Any boy of the proper age who will be a high school graduate by July 1 is eligible. Those who pass and are accepted after physical examination will have opportunity to apply for the reserve and express a preference for Army or Navy training. Those selected will be sent to colleges, in uniform and drawing pay, at least until they are 18.

Scientific, pre-medical, mathematics and physics courses will make up the bulk of the training as now projected. A limited number of the students will specialize in languages. Educators have suggested that as many as 100,000 may be eligible.

low one row each of Crosby Egyptian or Early Wonder beets, Chantenay or Nantes carrots and Shogoin turnips.

Spring-planted Golden Acre cabbage and yellow onions may be followed by Detroit Dark Red beets.

A row of Scarlet Globe radishes and a row of Long Standing Bloomsdale spinach may be followed by two runs of U. S. No. 5 Refugee beans. The choice of locally adapted varieties is of great importance in a successful harvest of succession crops and therefore it is important for a gardener to consult his seedsman or agricultural agent.

UNEMPLOYMENT CRISIS AHEAD SAYS TRUMAN

Washington, March 6 (AP)—The threat of an unemployment crisis in the not too distant future was envisioned by members of the Truman committee today unless government obstacles to civilian production are removed.

"One of our major jobs now is to keep close touch with war contract cancellations and cutbacks to see that factories that could manufacture urgently-needed civilian items are not left idle," Chairman Truman (D-Mo) told reporters.

Third Annual Report

Agreeing, Senator Ferguson (R-Mich) declared that government agencies must adopt a system "for the quick removal of machinery from plants no longer needed for war work to enable them to resume peace-time manufacture."

In its third annual report released over the week-end, the committee declared the nation "must not prevent the use of surplus commodities and thereby create unemployment."

While manpower shortages will continue in some areas, it asserted, "the extent of such areas and the degree of crisis will be so very much less than the committee does not believe that so drastic a remedy as the enactment of a manpower draft statute is warranted."

Oppose Labor Draft

The report devoted several hundred words of opposition to the administration-endorsed national service law and recommended instead "a clear and understandable government labor relations policy."

As a result of an accumulation of cutbacks, the committee suggested that manufacturers not located in critical manpower shortage areas—who have not been offered war contracts—be permitted to make civilian items "of their own selection."

The committee held out little hope for an early resumption of automobile manufacture since this construction would conflict with needs for more heavier and longer-range bombers, ships and other war needs.

Linglestown, Pa., March 6 (AP)—Miss Anna M. Schaner, Linglestown's oldest resident, died Saturday in the home she was born in 92 years ago.

RADIO PROGRAMS

New York, March 6 (AP)—Niles Trammell believes television, in getting under way after the war, should not be confronted with too many governmental restrictions. For one thing, he urges a change in the federal communications commission regulation limiting to three the number of picture stations one company may own.

The NBC president said so in his statement to affiliated stations outlining the network's television plans in the immediate and distant future, including chain relays.

Stiffer Penalties Under Liquor Laws

Harrisburg, March 6 (AP)—Stiffer penalties are in store for tap-rooms which consistently violate State Liquor laws and prey upon servicemen and minors.

Frederick T. Gelder, chairman of the State Liquor Control Board, said the state "will get tougher" but added:

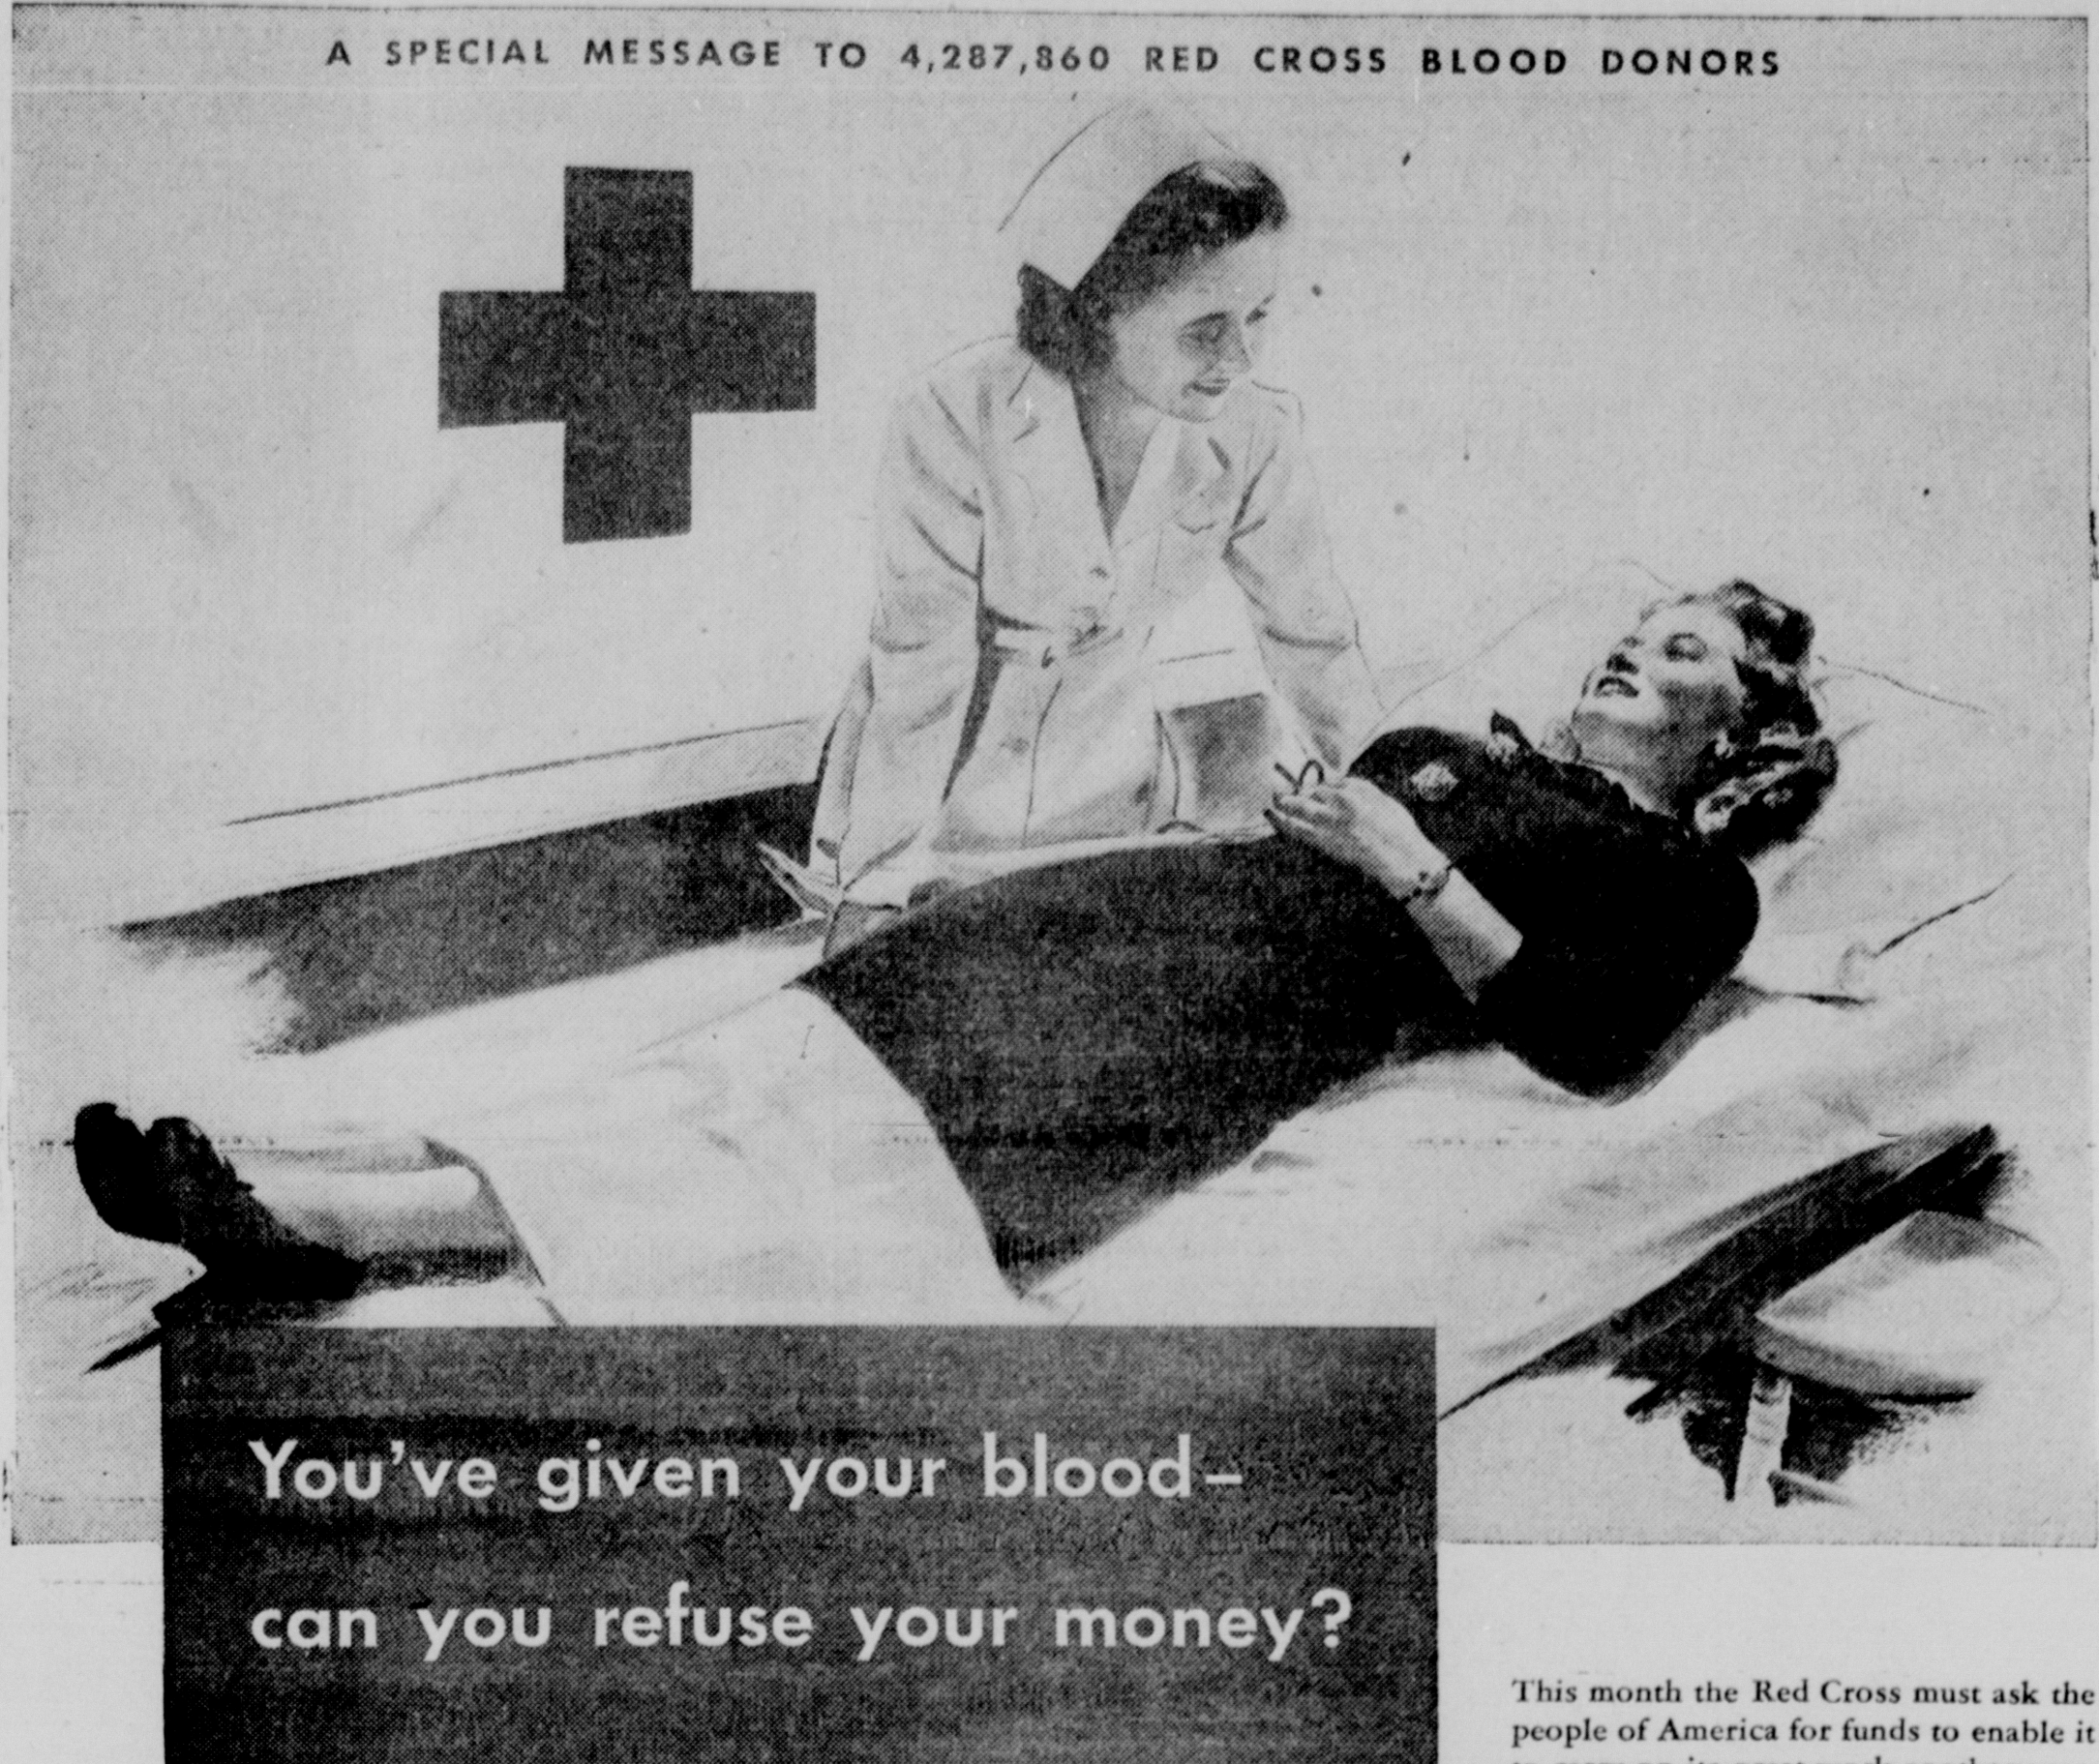

"We are not looking for victims. We are looking for violators of the law."

Board officials and enforcement officers are to confer Wednesday on a stricter policy.

FUEL OIL REPORT

Harrisburg, March 6 (AP)—Not more than 76 per cent of a household's annual fuel oil ration should have been used up to today, the OPA advises.

A SPECIAL MESSAGE TO 4,287,860 RED CROSS BLOOD DONORS

You've given your blood—
can you refuse your money?

YOU have given more than money—you who have given the blood from your heart.

You have earned the right to sit back now... to let other people carry the load. But wait a minute. Have you?

Could you rest content if lack of funds prevented one single pint of that blood from reaching its goal, from saving a life?

Could you sleep easy if but one American boy—your own son, perhaps—should lack some comfort the Red Cross might have given him?

Would your conscience be clear if some prisoner of war failed to receive his weekly Red Cross food carton... his real American cigarettes or tobacco?

You know the answer : . . Of course you do! There can be only one answer!

* * *

Yes, you have a right to be proud, you of the blood-donor army.

But just because you are that kind of person—you won't rest on your oars now.

The RED CROSS is at his side and the Red Cross is YOU!
